4/11

Introduction to the TOPIC

This part will officially open our conference and introduce participants to artivism and the ways in which art can have a transformative impact on society.

As such, participants will gain an understanding that art is not only a tool for creation but also a tool for change.

4/11

DEBATE with artists

The debate will give you a unique opportunity to get to know the profiles of activist artists who, through art, strive to transform their everyday surroundings in Poland, Portugal and Spain. The artists will present their most important achievements while participants will be able to ask questions.

Attendees will be able to participate in the debate in person, however, thanks to the use of the latest technology, participants from all over the world will also be able to join the debate - via zoom. A link will be provided to registered guests.

ARTVISTS taking part in the debate:

Barbara Prądyńska
/Poland/

Actress, performer, theatre maker and educator, cultural animator working in social contexts.

For years involved in artistic work in social contexts with, among others, ethnic minorities, refugees, Roma migrants, prisoners and female prisoners, children from foster families, children in hospitals, children and adults with disabilities, seniors, in relation to violence against women. Co-founder of the Art Junction Foundation (2015), dealing with socio-cultural-artistic projects in Poland and abroad, especially in the area of multiculturalism and tolerance towards others.

ARTVISTS taking part in the debate:

Rodrigo Vilarinho /Portugal/

Creator, dancer and performer with a very mixed background before discovering dance.

He is originally from Lisbon, Portugal, but he did his bachelor degree in Dance at DOCH – The University of Dance and Circus, in Stockholm. He has been working as a freelance artist in several productions around Europe, including two pieces by Margrét Sara Gudjónsdóttir “step right to it” and “Blind Spotting”, and reperformances of Marina Abramović “Imponderabilia”. He is currently performing and creating with ReAct!.

ROUND tables

This activity will be an opportunity for discussions in smaller groups. Using the world cafe method, we will look at different examples of activism in Poland and learn more about social issues in the country.

We will also take a closer look at different disciplines of art and consider how we can use them in our everyday work to tackle important social issues.

A teachers' protest depicted in paintings? How about a comic book to draw attention to gender inequality in our workplace? Only our imagination can limit us here, but with the contribution of others, we can discover new ways in which we can use universal tools to act in our local environment.

4/11

STUDY VISIT to the artistic studio

During the afternoon session, we will take a study visit to the artistic studio "Manufaktura gliny", where, divided into three groups, we will try our luck at some perhaps previously unknown artistic techniques.

This inspiring afternoon will help us to relax, gain new experiences and continue discussions in a unique atmosphere.

5/11

Artist INSPIRATION: Art as a weapon for social change

This will be the most creative and spontaneous part of our conference. After inspiring talks on day one, practical workshop on day two, informal conversations and exchange of experiences during the whole stay in Leszno, we will give ourselves up to total freedom and improvisation.

Using our favourite method, or one that perhaps we have never dared to use until this time, we will put ourselves in the shoes of the artists and create a piece of art that will reflect a social issue important to our local community. In the end, we will present our accomplishments to others and make a mini-exhibition out of them.

5/11

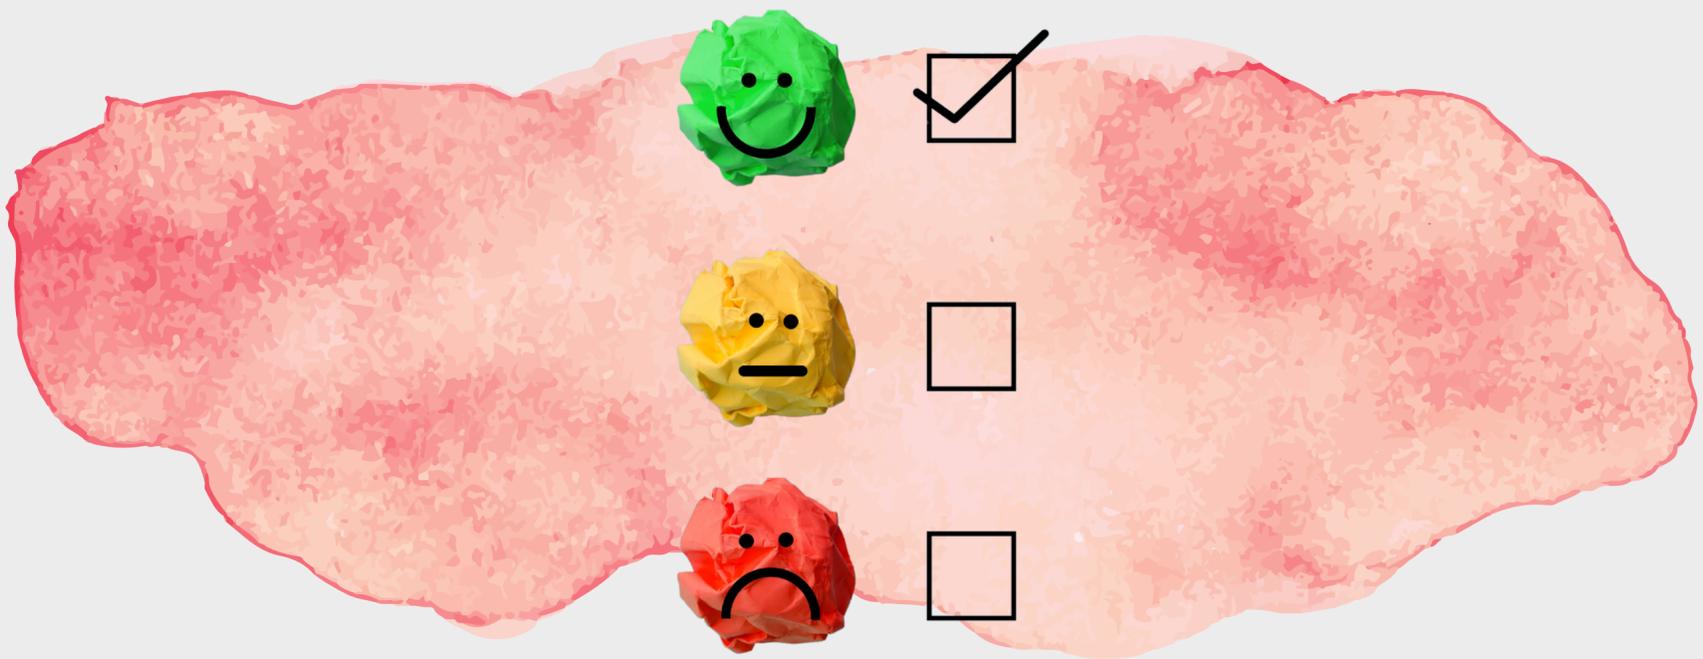

Study VISIT: A farewell surprise!

Here's (almost) the final part of our conference - filled with joy, memories, friendly chat and lots of fun.

Excited to find out what is going to happen? Then join our conference to experience it for yourself!

EVALUATION

Before the participants leave Ileszno, there will be an evaluation session during which we will assess the content of the event.

It will also be an opportunity to reflect on what new things we learned and what skills we are returning home with.

ACCOMMODATION
